

Open Door, Autumn/Winter 2021

For the tenants and leaseholders of Cambridge City Council

Editorial

From David Greening, Head of Housing Services

Welcome to this edition of Open Door. Here, you can see how to get the most from the Council's Customer Services, whether online, by phone or in person by appointment. And there is an update on Covid testing and vaccinating in our city.

We bring you our annual overview of how the budget of your landlord service is spent and how your rent compares to rents on the open market. We also overview the year's complaints from customers, to show you the improvements we are making as a result.

In this edition you can learn more about how to help prevent the exploitation of vulnerable people through drug-running. You can read about our new Engagement, Education & Enforcement Officer, who will educate residents about zero tolerance on storing or leaving items in communal areas. He will support them to remove the items and create sustainable change, which increases resident safety. And there is an article explaining solicitors' claims around housing disrepair.

As the winter approaches, we show you what we are doing to prevent homelessness, both by providing new homes and through the reporting mechanisms of Streetlink. This edition also brings information on getting help with utility bills, low-cost furniture and free food for those who need it.

We bring you a page of local news and initiatives on how the city is tackling the effects of climate change, with success stories about planting trees and reducing plastics. And there are some stunning photos of gardens entered by council tenants and leaseholders in this year's Garden Competition. Meanwhile, leaseholders can read about extending the lease on their property, keeping up with fire and gas safety issues, and attending the Council's annual Leaseholders' Consultation Meeting, coming up soon.

Below, I am happy to introduce Anna Hill, the new Housing Services Manager for City Homes. You will see that Anna has worked with us before, and is happy to be back.

With best wishes,

David Greening

New Housing Services Manager for City Homes

Hello, I'm Anna Hill, the new Housing Services Manager. Some may remember me as a Housing Officer in the south of the city from 2012 to 2017. I have also worked with Housing Associations on Anti-Social Behaviour, Housing Management, Tenancy Sustainment and Welfare. I had earlier worked in banking in Customer Service, Underwriting and Fraud Investigation roles, and then for a local police force within their Major Crime and Anti-Social Behaviour Units.

I am a huge animal lover so our furry residents will always get attention from me! My passions outside of work include live music events, exploring new places and attending football matches. Having worked under Sandra Farmer, the retiring Housing Services Manager, I have big shoes to fill but I really look forward to the challenge ahead as we begin to emerge from the pandemic.

Your own Housing account online

Why not use the MyCambridge portal online? It's easy to register, at the top right-hand corner of the Council's website at www.cambridge.gov.uk

As a council tenant or leaseholder, you can then register to also access your own private housing account online. That is a confidential online space dedicated to your housing information, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

£100 prize draw for registering

Anyone registering for their online housing account via the portal over the next month will be put into a prize draw, with a number of lucky residents winning £100 cash prizes each - help with the costs of Christmas!

Once you have logged in to your housing account, you can then use it to book your own repairs and appointments, check and print out the current status of your rent account, or view your past rent payments and any rent or arrears that are due. You can update your personal information, order a new rent payment card, and much more.

If you need help with getting started at using your online housing account or other online services, just book an appointment at Mandela House by phoning 01223-457070.

Your other MyCambridge services online

Over 8,000 residents are already using the MyCambridge portal online. On there, as well as your housing account, you can also manage your Council Tax account, claim benefits, notify about a change of circumstances or request a new bin.

You can also use the portal to easily report issues in streets or parks, like litter, fly-tipping, fallen branches or graffiti. You can even show the exact location: your report goes straight to council staff out in the community, ready to deal with it. Soon you will be able to report things like problems with a sports pitch, damage to benches or bus shelters, any plant maintenance needed, issues at play areas or public toilets, and much more. You will also be able to track the response online, seeing when the action you requested will be completed.

Council services going forward

Face to face meetings with council staff are by appointment only. This also helps to minimise the risk of infection for customers, and for staff who are needed to deliver council services. If you want to contact them, please first check whether the service or information you need is available online. But if you have an essential need to meet staff in person, phone 01223-457000.

Remember that you can make payments to the Council remotely, or via other organisations like the Post Office. For more information, visit www.cambridge.gov.uk Those without internet can still contact the Council by phoning 01223-457000.

For service updates, visit www.cambridge.gov.uk/coronavirus-changes-to-our-services To be notified every time it updates, register at www.cambridge.gov.uk/subscribe-for-emailalerts

Tackling crime by reporting it

By reporting issues, safely and in confidence, you can help prevent the criminal exploitation of young and vulnerable people by drug dealers.

A 'county line' is a term used to describe certain activities of an organised criminal network. They use dedicated mobile phone numbers to move illegal drugs into an area.

The gangs exploit children, young people and vulnerable adults, using them to move and store drugs and money. They will often use intimidation, violence and weapons.

This exploitation is against the law. The Cambs Against County Lines partnership is working to prevent it, and you can help by reporting suspicious behaviour.

If somebody you know shows any of these signs, they might be involved in county lines activity, for instance if they:

- often go missing from home or school

- spend time with someone who is older and controlling
- travel alone to places far away from home
- suddenly have lots of money, new clothes or mobile phones
- receive more phone calls or messages than usual
- carry or sell drugs
- carry weapons or know people with access to weapons
- have unexplained injuries
- seem scared or reserved, or like they have something to hide
- are self-harming

Report suspicious activity to the police online or phone 101. You can report just what you know or have seen, without giving your name.

You can also give information to Crimestoppers anonymously, or phone 0800-555-111. But you should phone 999 if somebody is in immediate danger or a crime is taking place.

For more information:

- visit online at www.cambridge.gov.uk/cambs-against-county-lines
- email countyline@cambridge.gov.uk
- phone 01223-457950
- or follow Cambs Against County Lines on Facebook

Domestic abuse

The pandemic saw more Cambridge families fleeing home due to domestic abuse. 134 such households with children were helped by Cambridgeshire councils last year, compared to 119 in the previous year.

Cambridge City Council acts to protect tenants suffering domestic abuse. For help, phone your housing officer at 01223-457070 or visit <https://www.cambridge.gov.uk/advice-for-people-affected-by-domestic-abuse>

Or phone Cambridge Women's Aid at 01223-361214.

In some families, a parent is abused by their offspring, whether verbally, psychologically, financially, physically or sexually. Free, confidential help is available from the organisation PEGS (Parental Education Growth Support) at www.pegssupport.co.uk/contact

Or email hello@pegssupport.com

Respect is a free helpline for male victims of domestic abuse.

Phone them in confidence at 0808-0810327 or visit <https://survivingeconomicabuse.org>

Housing Disrepair claims

Message from Lynn Thomas, Head of your repairs service:

“As your landlord, the City Council has an obligation to meet specific basic conditions, including an obligation to repair your property in line with the Housing Act 1985 and your tenancy agreement.

A housing disrepair claim is a type of lawsuit that involves a tenant taking legal action against their landlord for failing to fix damage or make repairs in their property in an appropriate time or to an appropriate standard.

Currently there are lots of solicitors and legal firms offering 'No win, No fee' services to follow a case on tenants' behalf. They are actively contacting tenants and promoting this service.

So not surprisingly, Cambridge City Council's repairs service has received a high number of Disrepair Claims that our surveyors and legal officers have been dealing with.

The proceedings can take a long time to complete. And it is worth noting that in the last two years, not one of the claims has proven successful.

We would like to remind you that you can request non-urgent repairs online through our website or online housing portal at <https://housing.cambridge.gov.uk>

But for an emergency or urgent repair, phone the Customer Service Centre at 01223-457060.

If you are not happy with the service you receive, we encourage you to contact us rather than starting a lawsuit. If you do not feel that your request for a repair has been addressed fast enough or to an appropriate standard, please email housing.repairs@cambridge.gov.uk

Or you can make a formal complaint via the City Council's Complaints webpage at www.cambridge.gov.uk/compliments-complaints-and-suggestions"

Clear communal areas

To increase fire safety, your Housing Service has a Zero Tolerance Policy on stored items and fly tipping in communal areas. It has powers to remove items and charge offenders for costs. Jamie Lambert has just become the new Engagement, Education & Enforcement Officer who will work with residents to achieve zero items left in communal areas.

That includes communal hallways, walkways, staircases, balconies, bin and storage areas, access paths, gardens and drying areas. The area immediately outside a resident's front door is also communal, and must not have anything stored there. This includes bikes, pushchairs, prams, buggies, rubbish bags, wheeled bins and lockers or cabinets. It also includes toys, shopping trolleys, carpets, plant pots, mail and newspapers. Items awaiting disposal, like washing machines or mattresses, must never be left in communal areas.

Fire doors to escape routes must never be wedged open. Bicycles, mopeds or motorbikes must not be serviced or stored in communal areas, unless in designated stores provided by the Council. Mobility scooters must be stored inside the resident's home or away from communal areas. Any item left in communal areas will be tagged with a deadline for the resident to remove it. Otherwise, the Council will remove it, and can charge the offending resident - or all residents of the block - for the cost of this.

To report items left or flytipping in internal communal areas on your estate, email Jamie.Lambert@cambridge.gov.uk or phone 01223-457070.

For flytipping in external communal areas of estates, report it online at www.cambridge.gov.uk/report-flytipping or phone the Council at 01223-458282.

Are you struggling with utility bills or debts?

During the Covid-19 crisis, energy suppliers are not allowed to disconnect your gas or electricity if you miss a payment. They must offer a payment plan you can afford.

If you are struggling with energy bills due to the virus crisis, get help at www.ofgem.gov.uk/information-consumers/energy-advice-households/getting-help-if-you-cant-afford-your-energy-bills

For a prepay meter that you can't afford to top up, ask your supplier for 'Emergency Credit'. Also email homeenergy@cambridge.gov.uk - they may be able to help with a

Temporary Fuel Voucher. Those with a pre-payment meter can also get help at www.energyhelpline.com/coronavirus-help/covid-19-measures-in-place-for-prepayment-energy-customers

'Breathing Space' from debts

A government scheme called Breathing Space can give those with problem debt up to 60 days' 'freeze' on interest, repayments and contact with creditors.

And it can give those in treatment for a mental health crisis the same protection throughout the duration of their treatment, plus 30 days more.

The scheme can also provide professional support to help resolve problem debts.

People using the programme report improvements in their wellbeing, such as sleeping better and coping better with day-to-day life.

For more information, visit www.gov.uk/government/news/breathing-space-to-help-millions-in-debt

Free services at your Post Office

You can pay your council rent at any local Post Office branch that shows the PayPoint sign. To see the many different ways to pay your rent, including online, over the phone or at Post Offices, visit www.cambridge.gov.uk/pay-your-housing-rent

At Post Office branches you can also pay money into your bank account, or withdraw money from one.

Unfortunately, Post Office Card Accounts have ended this month. You can no longer receive benefits, state pension or tax credit payments into one. You must withdraw any money you have in a Post Office Card Account, via your local Post Office branch or via their phone helpline 0345-722-3344.

To receive benefits or state pension from now on, you must have a bank, building society or credit union account. Or in exceptional circumstances, you could request a special 'Payment Exceptions Service' at your local benefits or pension office.

Help with rent and your budget

If you are having difficulties paying your rent, contact the Council immediately to arrange a special payment plan that will spread the cost, and avoid you losing your home.

For instance, you might pay less rent or no rent for a few months, then catch up by spreading what you owe over a longer period agreed in advance with the City Council.

For example, if your monthly rent is £500 (ie. £6,000 per year), you might pay no rent for 2 months, then pay an extra £100 (ie. £600 per month) for the following 10 months. Or you might pay £250 per month for 3 months, and then pay £583.33 per month for the next 9 months to make up the difference.

The Council can sit down with you and agree a personal payment plan that is tailored for you. So don't let the problem mount up. If you need help, phone the Council at 01223-457070 to discuss a personal payment plan today.

Other help is available too. To see the benefits that are available, visit www.understandinguniversalcredit.gov.uk/employment-and-benefits-support

You can use the City Council's online benefits calculator to find out what benefits you could claim, including Universal Credit. It's at <https://cambridge.entitledto.co.uk/home/start>

To see how much you may be entitled to, you'll need to have information to hand about your savings, income, pensions and any existing benefits.

For help with budgeting or claiming benefits, you can email the Council's Financial Inclusion Officers at incometeam@cambridge.gov.uk or phone them at 01223-457000.

And the Council's online budgetting tool can also help you manage your finances at www.cambridge.gov.uk/advice-about-debt-and-managing-your-money

Have your wages reduced or stopped?

If so, and you are receiving housing benefit or Council Tax reduction, make sure you update your Benefits Account now.

The Council will look at your current earnings and update your benefits as needed.

If you receive Tax Credits, let HMRC know your current situation. If you are not eligible for any of the above, you may need to claim Universal Credit.

For more information, visit www.cambridge.gov.uk/coronavirus-financial-support-for-residents

You can also get information about the financial support and benefits available by phoning Cambridge Citizen's Advice at 0344-848-7979.

Residents take actions for climate

Helping Swifts to nest

Thanks to a local venture to protect these wonderful birds, the Swift population at Edgecombe flats is expanding!

Cambridge City Council and the charity Action for Swifts installed 71 nest boxes at Edgecombe in 2010. Ten years later, 34 were occupied by Swifts, as well as a lot of House Sparrows. The project has now installed another 24 nesting chambers.

As part of the city's many projects to boost wildlife diversity and restore the wildlife habitats that are disappearing so quickly, projects like the one at Edgecombe show that it is all worthwhile.

In July 2020, a survey looked for:

- droppings below nest box entrances
- chicks looking out of the boxes
- adult birds flying in or out

The survey found more than 34 boxes occupied by pairs of Swifts. Furthermore, 32 boxes had evidence of previous occupation by House Sparrows, in the form of grass or feathers in the entrance. And 16 of those boxes were now occupied by Swifts. The project is now experimenting to discover whether Swifts prefer a dark-painted interior or an unpainted one.

For updates, visit #Action for Swifts Community on Facebook

New swift boxes coming to estates in south of city

The City Council is now optimistic that Edgecombe flats will grow into a major colony of both Swifts and House Sparrows.

The success of the project should encourage other neighbourhoods to do similar things. So the Council is investing up to £5,000, through its Environmental Improvement Scheme, to fund more Swift boxes on estates in the south of the city, as those to date have all been in the north.

To propose your estate as a suitable site for Swift boxes, or to get involved with the project, email resident-involvement@cambridge.gov.uk

Wenvoe Meadow Nature Area

This is a small piece of City Council land that has been dedicated to enhancing biodiversity. It was derelict, but over three years of hard work from council staff, Wenvoe Allotment Society and resident volunteers have transformed it. It's now a flourishing nature reserve with a large, wildlife-friendly pond.

The Mayor, Cllr. Russ McPherson, and David Greening, Head of the Council's Housing Services, attended the opening ceremony above, congratulating the local groups and volunteers on what they have achieved.

Cambridge's tree canopy

Tree planting can contribute to tackling the climate crisis. Earth's climate is changing at an unprecedented rate. The impact for cities like Cambridge may mean elevated urban heat and more frequent flooding events. Having more trees can help to mitigate these impacts and adapt our cities to climate change.

More 'Green Infrastructure' in our cities – including trees, parks, hedgerows, flower beds, drainage ditches, green or 'living' walls and roofs, rain gardens, and permeable paving – helps to build climate resilience. Residents' gardens also contribute to this green infrastructure. You can help to maximise it by planting a tree in your garden. The sooner the better, because it will take time to mature and deliver its full benefits.

By planting a tree you can join in with initiatives like the Queen's Green Canopy, launched by the Queen for her Platinum Jubilee in 2022. It invites households to 'Plant a Tree for the Jubilee' and to pin it onto the project's map online. Another project is the BBC Countryfile's Plant Britain, to get 750,000 trees planted across the UK. This too has an online map to add your new trees to, with almost half a million planted already.

The Cambridge Canopy Project is our own project to increase tree canopy cover in the city by planting 16,000 additional trees. 2,000 of these will be in public spaces. Another 1,500 will be given to residents for free through the Free Trees for Babies scheme and Neighbourhood Canopy Campaigns. And we hope 12,500 more trees can be planted by residents in their gardens. If you have planted a new tree in your garden, please add it to the 'Cambridge Tree Map' online and tag it with #CambridgeTreeChallenge.

If you can't plant a tree yourself, you can sponsor one in the city's streets or parks through our collaboration with Trees for Streets. Every new tree in the city will help with the mission to combat climate change. So please get involved and do your bit – and don't forget to add your new tree(s) to each initiative's map!

Plastic cut by over a third

Churchill, the cleaning contractor on the Council's estates, have cut their use of plastic containers by over 35%. In just six months, they used 291,345 fewer, just by replacing their top five cleaning products with water-soluble sachets. This huge reduction was nationwide, with the biggest reduction here in the South East.

But 12 million tonnes of plastic still pollute oceans each year, so Churchill partnered with Surfers Against Sewage. Churchill have worked with them to clear plastic from the UK coastline: they call it their "first step of many towards a better future for our oceans, riverways, and coastlines".

For easy tips to reduce your own use of plastics, see at www.cambridge.gov.uk/plastic-recycling-campaign or on social media @GreaterCambridgeRecycles

Residents' Gardens

The Council's tenants and leaseholders entered stunning gardens for this year's Residents' Garden Competition, winning £400 worth of prizes (winners are listed below). The cover of this edition shows the lovely Community Garden created by residents at Princess Court flats during lockdown, using found and upcycled materials.

Residents are seeing that, as well as being a haven of peace, nature-friendly gardens support wildlife and biodiversity. They are a lifeline for bees, birds and butterflies, forming a patchwork of nature refuges across the city. The Council's annual Garden Competition encourages residents' gardens to be more nature-friendly, through the money-saving tips below that save on effort too...

Gardeners helping Nature...

Leave some natural areas with dandelions, buttercups, nettles, etc. to feed birds, bees, butterflies and other insects.

Grow natural flowers with single blooms: bees and butterflies can't feed from 'double' blooms.

Compost garden and kitchen waste, for free fertiliser that improves your soil.

Collect rainwater in a butt, to water your garden for free.

Mulching protects plants and reduces the need to water.

Grow your own organic veg to save money and eat healthily. Use physical barriers like fleece, rather than chemicals that poison wildlife such as thrushes.

X Gardeners stopping...

Stop using chemical pesticides, herbicides or fertilisers. As well as potentially harming human health, they harm bees, butterflies, birds, hedgehogs, toads and other wildlife.

Mow your lawn a lot less, letting dandelions, daisies, buttercups and plantain come through it to feed wildlife.

Next Spring, for entry forms for the 2022 Residents' Garden Competition, visit www.cambridge.gov.uk/tenant-and-leaseholder-garden-competition or email resident-involvement@cambridge.gov.uk or phone 01223-458323.

Youth mental health support

YOUnited is a new service in Cambridge providing free help to children and young people for their emotional wellbeing and mental health. For those under 25, it provides a range of support including therapies, counselling and guided self-help. Young people have helped to co-design these important services.

A young person can only be referred to YOUnited by a GP or professional working with youth. Specialist staff then work directly with the child or young person, as well as their family or carers if necessary, to support their needs.

At Centre 33, 17- to 25-year-olds can also get free mental health support directly, without a referral in Cambridge. They help with mental health, housing, food vouchers, sexual health, caring responsibilities and more. Centre 33's offices are temporarily closed due to Covid-19 but email, phone or text them and they will get back to you with support. They will find the 'best fit' mental health support for you, whether at Centre 33 or a partner organisation.

To be safe, get vaccinated

The NHS is encouraging pregnant women to get the Covid-19 vaccine as data shows that nearly 20 per cent of the most critically ill Covid patients are pregnant women who have not been vaccinated.

Since July, one in five Covid patients receiving treatment through a special lung-bypass machine were expectant mums who have not had their first vaccination.

Housing homeless people

Since Covid-19 began, the City Council has temporarily housed over 100 homeless people. The Council also has an affordable housing programme that will over time deliver more than 500 new council homes, including specialist housing solutions.

Meanwhile, a scheme called Cambridge Next Steps is tackling homelessness, providing new, one-person modular homes with help from land and property owners. Designed by local housebuilder Hill, they give formerly homeless people a stepping-stone to a stable lifestyle. Hill have pledged to create 200 nationally.

The homes are delivered to the site fully furnished with high standards of safety, security and insulation. The City Council has provided land for the first ones, and homelessness charities will support new tenants to integrate into the local community.

The Council provided the land in the Abbey area for these first homes designed and installed by Hill. Maintenance of the homes and comprehensive support for the tenants will be provided by Jimmy's charity.

The homes provide an independent space for people seeking to rebuild their lives following a period of homelessness, with expert staff supporting them through this transitional period. Residents will live there temporarily as a step on to more permanent forms of accommodation.

Each home has 25 square metres of floor space, with separate living and cooking, sleeping and bathroom areas and its own front door.

Built in Britain with steel frames and walls and advanced levels of thermal and sound insulation, they are designed to last 60 years. And with running costs of less than £5 a week, they are ready to move into. Cambridge is one of the first UK cities to try using them, and the model is being replicated around the country.

For services for homeless people or to avoid becoming homeless, visit the City Council's website at www.cambridge.gov.uk/homeless-people or phone their Housing Advice service at 01223-457918.

Taxi vouchers for disabled residents

The City Council's Taxicard scheme gives free vouchers to disabled people on low incomes in Cambridge, to help them pay for taxis. Travelling companions can accompany the person for free. The Council would like to see more disabled residents joining up to use and benefit from the scheme.

For the period from 1st October 2021 to 31 March 2022, Taxicard scheme members receive vouchers worth £5 and £1, totalling £75, towards the cost of taxi journeys in Cambridge. (Those joining after 1st October will receive the appropriate number of vouchers for the remaining months).

You pay at least £1 towards the fare, and can choose to use one, two or more vouchers for each one-way trip. You hand over the voucher(s) at the end of the journey. If you are also a Cambridge Dial-a-Ride member, you can use your Taxicard vouchers on the community transport bus. (Additional passengers must pay to travel with you on the bus.)

To be eligible for a Taxicard, you must receive one or more of these benefits:

- Universal Credit, Income Support, Pension Credit or Income-based Jobseekers' Allowance
- Housing Benefit or Council Tax Reduction (including disability premiums or reductions, but not the single occupancy reduction)
- Employment & Support Allowance (income-related, not contribution-based)

You should also be at least one of the following:

- registered blind or partially sighted
- receiving Attendance Allowance, or the higher mobility or higher care component of Disability Living Allowance

- receiving the Mobility or Daily Living Enhanced Personal Independence Payment
- receiving War Pensioners' Mobility Supplement

But even if you do not meet any criteria on this second list above, you are still eligible for a Taxicard if unable to use public transport because you:

- are a permanent wheelchair user
- cannot walk more than 100 metres
- cannot walk without a walking aid, e.g. a frame or crutches
- are unable to stand unsupported for more than 5 minutes

You can apply to join the Taxicard scheme directly online at www.cambridge.gov.uk/taxicard Or you can print out an application form there and post it to Taxicard Administrator, PO Box 700, Cambridge CB1 0JH. Applications must include a passport-sized photograph and copies of evidence that you are eligible.

For more information about eligibility criteria, how the scheme works and how to apply, please visit www.cambridge.gov.uk/taxicard or phone the City Council at 01223-457000.

If you have a mobility problem, the City Council's Shopmobility service can lend you a scooter or electric wheelchair to help you visit the city centre. They are based at the Grand Arcade car park and the Grafton Centre car park.

To use this free service, you must register with them. For information, phone 01223-457452 (Grand Arcade car park) or 01223-461858 (Grafton East car park), or email shopmobility@cambridge.gov.uk or visit www.cambridge.gov.uk/borrow-a-scooter-from-shopmobility

Involving residents

Message from a tenant rep

“Hi, My name is Mandy Powell-Hardy and I have lived in Cambridge for the last 17 years. Before being elected by you onto the Council’s Housing Scrutiny Committee, I was already representing tenants by helping the Housing Service with Green Inspections, Asset Management, recycling, and attending meetings for Estate Liaison and for the Housing Development Agency.

Since being on the Housing Scrutiny Committee, I have learnt how the City Council goes about maintaining the city, and the well-being of its own tenants and leaseholders. This is my second term on the Committee and it’s extremely interesting, especially given the changes needed to meet the Council’s target of reducing to net zero carbon emissions by 2030. So a big issue in the city now is how the Council are dealing with the transition to building new housing that has electric, rather than gas, heating. Solar panels on the roofs will help the tenants of those homes with their heating costs. And the Council are now building completely passive housing too, with net zero carbon emissions.

Why not come and get involved as a resident representative? You would be helping the city along the path to achieving our sustainability goals. We need residents of all ages, from all sorts of backgrounds. And if you are prepared to learn, there are so many aspects of running the city that you can explore and help with...”

At the Council’s Housing Scrutiny Committee, your tenant and leaseholder representatives are in a unique position to challenge, input and vote on the top decisions relating to your housing. The other elected resident representatives on the Committee are tenants Diana Minns, Christabella Amiteye, Lulu Agate and Colin Stevens, and leaseholder representative Diane Best. They champion your interests, and use Open Door to keep you updated on their activities.

Decisions they debated and voted on at their meeting in September 2021 included:

- the mid-term financial strategy of the City Council’s budget for its Housing Service

- how best to manage residents' car parking spaces on council estates, and at newly built social housing sites across the city
- changes to the scheme that assists tenants to move from their under-occupied homes
- the Council's policy on Shared Ownership homes
- overseeing how the Council's Estates and Facilities department complies with government standards and regulations
- a complaint supported by the Housing Ombudsman about one of the City Council's housing repairs

Your elected resident representatives are always available to listen to your concerns and questions. If you want to contact them, please send an email to hsc.residents@gmail.com or phone 01223-458323 to leave them a message.

What's happening for residents?

Tablet loan scheme

The City Council is offering free loans of wifi-enabled tablets to council tenants and leaseholders who receive Housing Benefit or Universal Credit. To be eligible, residents must have no access to digital equipment or wifi at home, other than smart phones.

With 20GB of free data, the loan is for three months initially, extended for another three months if needed.

The scheme is to help residents improve their economic situation. Using the internet can help them access employment and benefits, for instance, or swap utility providers.

To apply, email resident-involvement@cambridge.gov.uk or phone 01223-458323.

Residents' Newsletter

Why not sign up to receive the online Resident Involvement E-Newsletter of your housing service? Just two pages long, it keeps you informed at a glance on the latest news, offers and services from your housing service. To receive it, just email resident-involvement@cambridge.gov.uk or phone 01223-458323 to request a paper copy.

Inspections by Residents

Why not do some Resident Inspections on your own estate? Even an hour a month from you can help drive up the quality of services like communal cleaning, grounds maintenance, window cleaning and so on. You inspect how well the services are done, and give your feedback to the Council. This can bring improvements to:

- the cleanliness of internal communal areas in blocks of flats
- the standard of communal window cleaning
- the quality of grass cutting and maintenance of shrub beds

You will receive any training and support you need, with any expenses reimbursed. To find out more or get started, please phone 01223-458323 or email resident-involvement@cambridge.gov.uk for more information.

Free grass-cutting service

An overgrown lawn can impact your home, neighbours and locality. The Council provides a free service for eligible council tenants over 18 who cannot cut their own grass. They can receive a free cut every month from April to October. Eligible tenants must:

- have a disability for which you receive some benefits
- live alone, or with other people who are also eligible
- have no family living within a 10-mile radius who could do your grass-cutting, and are willing to do it

To apply, phone 01223-458323 or email resident-involvement@cambridge.gov.uk

For leaseholders

Extending your lease

About 25% of the City Council's leaseholders have 90 years or less left on their lease. The sooner your lease is due to expire, the less your flat is worth, and the more expensive it can be to extend its lease. For instance, you could have problems selling your flat if the lease has less than 80 years left.

After you have owned your flat for two years, you have the right to engage a solicitor to apply to add 90 years to its lease. For instance with 100 years left, you could extend it to 190 years. Extending your lease would mean you no longer pay ground rent, as the price for the new lease takes this into account.

But if you wish to extend your lease, you should first get advice from an experienced solicitor, plus surveyors and financial advisers if necessary.

Your solicitor will start the process by serving the Initial Notice on the Council, stating the amount you wish to pay for the extension. You will then be responsible for the City Council's costs, whether you complete the extension or not. The Council's current costs for the process are:

- Legal: £550 (or more if it is a protracted process)
- Surveyor: £250
- Valuation: £750 plus VAT
- Administration: £50

The Council has up to two months to respond to your request, and the whole process can take up to 12 months. However, the Council doesn't have to extend your lease if any of the following apply:

- your lease has already expired
- you have sublet your flat on a lease of 21 years or more
- the majority of leaseholders in your block have applied to obtain the freehold
- the Council wants to demolish or redevelop your block of flats

To apply to extend your lease, please send a written request to Home Ownership Services, Cambridge City Council, PO Box 700, Cambridge CB2 3QJ. For more information visit the independent advisor www.lease-advice.org

Fire safety in leasehold homes

Leaseholders are responsible for the gas and electrical safety of their property. If you have a gas appliance, the Council expects you to hold a valid Gas Safety Certificate. And if subletting your flat, it is a legal requirement. So if you have gas appliances, make sure you get them serviced regularly.

Please also familiarise yourself - as well as any subtenants you may have - with the guidance given in the City Council's leaflet Fire Safety in Flats, available at www.cambridge.gov.uk/fire-safety

This guidance includes:

- having working smoke alarms on each floor, and a fire action plan for escaping a fire
- keeping all exits clear, all doors closed at night, window- and door-keys easily accessible, and always keeping access roads to your home clear
- taking extra care with cooking, electrical sockets and appliances, portable heaters, smoking and candles

For more information, see www.cambsfire.gov.uk/firesafety and www.gov.uk/firekills

Noisy neighbours

During the pandemic the number of noise complaints increased. Please be mindful with music or parties, as you may be causing noise nuisance to neighbours.

The Council's Environmental Services work closely with City Homes, taking action on noise nuisance. New technologies have made investigations and assessment visits quicker. People who continue to cause noise nuisance risk a criminal record, having their stereo or TV seized, and putting their tenancy at risk.

If you experience neighbour noise, advice on resolving it is at <https://www.cambridge.gov.uk/report-a-noise-issue> If you cannot resolve it informally, complain to the Council's Environmental Services at www.cambridge.gov.uk/report-a-noise-issue

To report a noise nuisance to the City Council, you can also phone 01223-457900 or email env.health@cambridge.gov.uk
